How many strains do you need?

Can you pay for shipping?

Please describe your situation, including any funding, or pending funding:

How will these strains help your project?

The FGSC has a long history of providing materials without regard to the ability to pay. In return for this fee waiver, the FGSC will expect you to cite the FGSC and include the following in the acknowledgements section of any publications: "Strains were generously provided by the Fungal Genetics Stock Center at no cost and without this fee waiver, this work would not have been possible. The FGSC receives support from the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station". The FGSC does not expect, nor will it accept authorship in exchange for providing materials. Fee waivers are generally not granted for shipping or for molecular genetic reagents, although individual gene deletion mutants or plasmids may be an exception to this policy. Although the FGSC makes every effort to assure the integrity of materials in the collection, the FGSC provides these materials on an as-is basis and no guarantee is made.
